Dear Ms. Segura:

We received your email dated March 10, 2008, along with your retention Group A & B summary data testing for the subject military specification and reporting period. The information was reviewed and found to meet the requirements of MIL-DTL-83734; therefore, Mill-Max's listings on the QPL-83734 will be maintained.

Mill-Max's next retention of qualification testing period is February 1, 2008 – January 31, 2009. Reports are due into this office no later than 30 days from the end of the reporting period. In the event that there is no production during the reporting periods, you are required to submit a report of no production. DD Form 1718, "Certification of Qualified Products," may be used for this negative report. Products that are not produced should be listed in the remarks section.
